Ok, I wish I could say I'm fresh this AM... but I think what you are doing is accepting Mindy and J's changes and saving that as a new document on sharepoint? Which works for me. I think there might be one or two comments that require some action on our part – and there was the one J comment that was just question marks – but I think all of that was in the comment bubbles.

Thanks!

Hi, Alexis - I'm not sure I follow, but that could just be because it's Tuesday at half past midnight. What are we all doing working now?? I realized I could just save it as "CLEAN mge" as Mindy tagged it and compare docs before settling definitively on that one as the working file. ... but I'm too fried to actually do the comparison with much trust in the conclusion. I think that should be correct... but maybe you could save what's there as 10c on your computer just in case and then save over it on sharepoint?
